Our washing machines can actually hold us back from that goal. If you have a fancy new washing machine, and it breaks, you usually have to call a repairman to fix it. They charge an arm and a leg for a minor repair. It also costs quite a bit to run it on the electric grid. Maybe you still aren't entirely convinced.

I have given up on my Haus washing machine. I changed the pump, the level sensor, had the motor off, checked the controllor board for dry joints,etc. Still remains stuck on a spin cycle and all the controls are disabled. Spent hours on the forum looking for answers but most problems seem to be that machine will not empty or will not spin.
