existence, freedom and choice. It is the view that humans define their own meaning in life, and try to make rational decisions despite existing in an irrational universe. It focuses on the question of human existence, and the feeling that there is no purpose or explanation at the core of existence.

Existentialism in the broader sense is a 20th century philosophy that is centered upon the analysis of existence and of the way humans find themselves existing in the world. The notion is that humans exist first and then each individual spends a lifetime changing their essence or nature.

Existentialism is a tradition of philosophical enquiry which takes as its starting point the experience of the human subject—not merely the thinking subject, but the acting, feeling, living human individual. It is associated mainly with certain 19th- and 20th-century European philosophers who, despite profound doctrinal differences,

Western philosophy:
The existentialism of Jaspers and Sartre.
Existentialism, true to its roots in Kierkegaard and Nietzsche, was oriented toward two major themes: the
analysis of human
existence, or Being,
and the centrality of human choice. Thus,
its chief theoretical
energies were devoted to ontology and
decision.
